Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over McMullin, of record, in view of Parenteau, of record, and Sciarrillo (5,207,076).
3. Regarding claim 1, McMullin discloses an accessory for drinking glasses (Figure 2, column 1, lines 5-10) with a clamp (2), an extension with connection elements (10), a rod (3) with connector elements where the body (4) connects to the rod.

McMullin does not teach the connector element on the rod that clips on the glass rim. Parenteau discloses a container with a similar accessory and the accessory includes a connector from the rod that prevents the device from sliding down the container (72, Figure 8, column 5, lines 51-55). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have incorporated the use of the connector on the rod as disclosed by Parenteau in the accessory disclosed by McMullin to prevent the device from sliding down the container.

McMullin does not teach the clamp with refrigerant liquid disposed therein. Sciarrillo discloses an accessory that can be used with a drinking glass that partly encircles a container for holding the container in a similar manner to the clamp (Figures 1-5) and the encircling element is filled with refrigerant liquid for maintaining the container at a cool temperature (column 1, lines 40-55). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have incorporated the use of a refrigerant liquid disposed in the clamping feature as disclosed by Sciarrillo in the accessory disclosed by McMullin to maintain the drinking glass at a cool temperature.

4. Regarding claim 2, McMullin discloses connector elements (30, Figure 3, column 3, lines 21-28) that allow the informative body to turn on the rod.

5. Regarding claim 3, McMullin discloses the body is suitable for inscriptions (Figure 2).

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 1 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

7. Applicant appears to argue that the prior art documents disclosing the element clipped at a point of the drinking glass perimeter are provided for a different purpose. In response, the prior art, Parenteau, discloses a similar accessory and the accessory includes a connector from the rod that prevents the device from sliding down the container meeting the structural limitations of the claim.

8. Applicant argues that the engagement system of the instant invention permits release of the advertisement and sun protection part without requiring the use of a whole new device as with the cited prior art. In response, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., the engagement system) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

Conclusion

9. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
